Redmayne House is a regal and beautiful example of Lune Valley country living. The property sits within the popular hamlet of Wrayton, 4 miles south of Kirkby Lonsdale. Very rarely does a property such as this become available and the hamlet attracts a wide variety of buyers. The residence is located within close proximity to the Yorkshire Dales National Park, Lake District, as well as the Trough of Bowland. A walkers paradise awaits you!

The home is a beautiful blend of traditional and modern features. We wonder what will you fall in love with first. Could it be the mullion window frames, the timber lintels or perhaps the surprisingly spacious country side garden? The home is well appointed with a modern fitted kitchen suite and a stunning south view Breakfast Room where your coffee and croissants await. A formal dining room adjacent to the Kitchen is the perfect place to entertain. An intimate dinner for two or hosting of a real family Christmas feast can be held in this beautiful room. Ground level underfloor heating will always ensure that your family and guests are cosy and toastie throughout the seasons.

There is a real array of living space on offer here. Three bedrooms to the first floor along with an en-suite shower room to the Master Bedroom. There is also a family bathroom with a modern suite and all bedrooms are gifted with wonderful views of the surrounding countryside. A home for the family to thrive in or for those wishing to enjoy the peace of hamlet living.

Beautifully landscaped gardens can be found surrounding the property. To the front is a walled garden with the prettiest country gate, which leads to a laid lawn and a path to the front door. Stroll down the side of the home, and down to the rear south facing English style country garden, and you will find a very welcoming patio area where you can enjoy morning coffee, or an evening glass of wine with friends after dinner.

With laid lawn to the side and rear aspects of the property, raised border, well established shrubs and trees, the gardens of Redmayne House offer a haven for garden lovers, or for those wishing to own their very own piece of quintessential country living. This garden is ideal for enjoying the peaceful, tranquil countryside that the hamlet of Wrayton has to offer.
